Re: deNovis Patent Applications

Dear John:

I hope all is well with you, as it has been some time since we last spoke. As you likely know, I am contacting you on behalf of deNovis, Inc., for as you also know, several patent applications were recently filed, naming yourself as an inventor with others.

In a recent conversation with Christopher Umana, Chris mentioned to me that you indicated that you may have some prior art that is related to the filed applications, and further, that you would be available at the above address to execute the necessary paperwork for patent filings, namely, a Declaration stating that you are an inventor, and a Power of Attorney enabling Foley Hoag, LLP to prosecute the applications. Further, enclosed is an Assignment document. For each document, a "sign here" sticker is placed in the areas requiring your signature and date of signature. I would greatly appreciate your executing the aforementioned documents, and returning the same to me in the postage-paid envelope that is enclosed. I am also enclosing, for your review, copies of the corresponding patent applications.

Because Chris mentioned that you may be aware of some prior art, I wanted to provide you with an excerpt from one of my standard letters that references this obligation. The following paragraphs are included in my standard reporting letter after filing any new application:

I am taking this opportunity to remind you that the Rules of Practice in Patent Cases impose on individuals associated with the filing and prosecution of a patent application a duty of candor and good faith in dealing with the U.S. Patent Office. This includes a duty to disclose information known to persons substantially involved with the application, including the applicant or its attorneys, that may be pertinent to examination of each pending claim. Failure to meet this duty may result in an otherwise valid patent being declared unenforceable. Conversely, information properly brought to the attention of the U.S. Patent Office creates a presumption that the information has been fully considered by the Examiner.

Accordingly, if you become aware of any publications or prior art which relate to the field of the invention, even if the publication was of limited distribution (such as a copy of a thesis in a library or a handout at a conference), please let me know so that I can disclose it to the Patent Office. You should also let me know about any of your publications that may relate to the invention and any commercial activity occurring before the filing of the application and involving the invention, including any trade show, exhibits, scientific meeting posters, test marketing, beta site use, sales, offers for sale, or acts or communications that might be viewed as offers for sale. In bringing to my attention information for possible disclosure to the Patent Office, I encourage you to err on the side of thoroughness.

If you have any questions with regard to the prior art issues, the documents, and/or if I may otherwise be of assistance, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Best regards,

Kevin A. Oliver

Dear Mr. Peled:

On February 11, 2004, March 16, 2004 and May 28, 2004 various documents were sent to you for your signature in connection with the above-referenced patent applications. All packages were returned as "unclaimed." Recently I learned from your wife that the address used is your correct address but that you have been in India for some time. I am, therefore, re-sending the documents for your signature, together with copies of the above-referenced applications. I would greatly appreciate your signing the following forms and returning them to me at your very earliest convenience so that the required forms can be submitted to the United States Patent Office.

1) Declaration for Utility Application Using an Application Data Sheet. Please sign the form where indicated by the "Sign Here" sticker.

2) Assignment. Sign and date the form where indicated. Please note, your signature must be witnessed, but the witness need not be a notary public.

After all forms have been completed, please return them to me by either facsimile at (617) 832-7000 or regular mail.
